A special thanks to Larry Shane, the baseball coach of Villanova University, for providing the baseball cards of Phillies players that appear on pages 45-46.

Stuffing envelopes to President of a major league baseball team.

That's the life story of Bill Giles. The wavy-haired 47-year-old became the Phillies President when he put together a limited partnership group which purchased the Philadelphia ball club from the Carpenter family last fall.

Bill has known little else than a baseball life.

"My mother passed away when I was nine. So I'd go to Crosley Field every day with my father," related Giles. His dad, the late Warren C. Giles, was President of the Reds (1946-1951) and National League President from 1951-1969.

"I'd be at the ball park three hours before games and around long afterward. I would listen to my dad talk baseball with the coaches, managers and players. Boy, did I soak it up."

He recalled his very first job in baseball.

"I was about 14 or 15 and I was the poor kid who stuffed news releases into envelopes for the PR director."

Giles, who has a rapid-fire giggle, then went into his best little laugh.

"My first official job in baseball came when I was 19, following my freshman year in college," he recalled.

"Cincinnati had a farm team in Morristown, Tenn., in the old Mountain States League. I was sent in there as the general manager to save a poor team. Within a week, the whole league folded," he laughed.

"I did about everything a person could do, sold tickets, sold cushions, cleaned up the clubhouse, paid the umpires and worked out of a tiny hotel room with a bunk-type bed."

That didn't slow him.

Following a discharge from the Air Force, Giles' baseball path carried him through minor league baseball, the Cincinnati front office, the Houston Astros and to the Phillies in October of 1969.

Want a title, Giles had plenty . . . Traveling Secretary, Publicity Director, Director of Public Relations and Promotions, Vice President and Executive Vice President, the role he filled so capably under Ruly Carpenter since 1972.

"I told my wife a year ago, I learned from some people in Houston how to gain ownership of a club without having any money to put up myself.

Bill Giles

"I set a goal to assemble a group that, within three years, would buy a franchise."

Three years turned into a couple of hours. For only a day after Bill's conversation with his wife, Ruly Carpenter announced the Phillies were up for sale.

Giles went to work quicker than it takes a Mike Schmidt home run to reach the seats.

He spent practically the entire 1981 baseball season calling and interviewing interested partners. He needed good people who would be able to put up millions . . . but with no strings attached.

"I wanted complete control of the baseball operation. Several people wanted to invest but they wanted to be involved."

A field of 200 potential partners left him short. If he was in a swimming meet, he would have drowned.

Then, from back in his home town of Cincinnati, came a call. Taft Broadcasting Co., a radio-TV conglomerate with whom his father had many dealings, came to the rescue.

"They asked how I was doing. I said I was short. They said 'We'll put up whatever you want, up to $30 million.' I had my deal," he said with the excitement of a child experiencing Christmas.

A kid who began stuffing envelopes was able to stuff $30 million-plus into a deal 32 years later to buy the Philadelphia Phillies. Not quite rags-to-riches, but close enough.

The Giles group, which is a limited partnership entitled "The Phillies," consists of Bill as the general partner and five other entities as limited partners:

- A subsidiary of Taft Broadcasting Company, a publicly held corporation that owns seven television stations, including WTAF (Channel 29 in Philadelphia), 12 radio stations, five amusement parks and companies involved in the production and distribution of entertainment programming. Taft, headquartered in Cincinnati, is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and has the biggest investor in the group. Charles S. Mechem Jr., is Chairman of the Board.
- J.D.B. Associates, a partnership of which John Drew Betz is the limited partner and Robert D. Hedberg is the general partner. Betz is the Chairman Emeritus of Betz Laboratories, Inc., a company primarily engaged in industrial water treatment and related specialty chemicals areas. Hedberg is a financial consultant.
- Tri-Play Associates, a partnership of three brothers — Alexander K. Buck, James Mahlon Buck Jr. and William Clifton Buck — who are the principal executive officers of TDH, Inc. and TDH Capital Corporation, private venture capital investment companies.
- Fitz Eugene Dixon, Jr., the civic leader who is Chairman of the Board of Temple University and Widener College, and the former owner of the Philadelphia 76ers.
- Mrs. Rochelle Levy, a well-known Philadelphia artist and member of the Board of Moore College of Art. Mrs. Levy's husband is Robert P. Levy, chief executive officer of DRT Industries, a mini-conglomerate primarily engaged in the storage of bulk liquids and in various leisure-recreational activities.

None of the partners own as much as 50 percent of the partnership.

The Phillies will move their over-the-air free television rights from WPHL (Channel 17) to Channel 29 for a nine-year period beginning in 1984.

Manager, Pat Corrales

There he was. The new Phillies manager wearing number 8. His new team was surrounding him in the Carpenter Field clubhouse where 49 Phillies were about to begin spring training. Some players were sitting on little stools, others leaning on wooden lockers and some were standing three-four deep in areas as if they were peeking to see a parade.

Pat Corrales was making his state of the union speech. Expected were the usual endless string of rules.

"Be on time and give 100 per cent on the field and no one will bother you. I don't have a lot of rules. Managers did when I played and I broke all of them."

That was it. In just a few seconds, the new man of the Phillies said it in his quiet but authoritative way. The voice was soft. The message was loud and clear.

That's Pat Corrales. No bull. No big words. No lengthy dissertation. No headlines. Just a simple message to his troops.

As spring training progressed he left little doubt that he was in charge. Problems got his quick attention but very few people knew a problem existed.

The Phillies were looking for a tough boss when they gave Corrales a two-year contract last November.

"I've been called a tough guy and a disciplinarian. Those aren't my labels," confesses the 41-year-old ex-catcher flashing a Pepsodent smile.

"I don't think players I've managed would say that about me either. But, I can be tough. I might yell occasionally but not very often. If I have to chew out anybody, I'll call him into my office and chew him out behind closed doors. I don't like to put family things public."

Signed originally out of Fresno, California, by the Phillies, Corrales played professional baseball from 1959 until 1974. His big league experience, in addition to the Phillies, included St. Louis, Cincinnati and San Diego.

He played for some fine managers in his career — Gene Mauch, Dave Bristol, Sparky Anderson and Don Zimmer.

"I learned something from each," he expressed. "But I don't pattern myself after any of them. I'm my own man."

He first put his managerial thoughts to work in winter ball. Two years were spent with Ponce, Puerto Rico, and one with Caracas, Venezuela, then one year in the minors with Alexandria (Texas League) in the Padres' chain.

Corrales, who is of Mexican-Indian descent, served as a bullpen, third, first and dugout coach for the Texas Rangers for three seasons. His first big league game as manager was on the last day of the 1978 season, replacing Billy Hunter. He was at the helm of the Rangers for two seasons and served as administrative aide to Texas General Manager Eddie Robinson last baseball season.

As far as running the game: "I don't play a lot of hunches. I go by the percentages," he explained.

Corrales has at his fingertips statistics the various Phillies hitters have compiled against National League pitchers for the last three years. Same for the Phillies pitching staff . . . how they fared against the other hitters in the league.

"Earl Weaver was the best at using this type of information. I have a folder for each team in the league and it'll be my Bible for the year. I like to go on what I know. I've seen too many hunches go down the drain."

Facts . . . simple rules . . . percentages . . . few words . . . low voice.

If anyone disagrees, fine. One word of caution, though, Pat Corrales, a well-knit 205 pounder, has a brown belt in Karate. Enough said?

The Coaches

Mike Ryan

"Irish" Mike Ryan returns to the Phillies coaching staff for his third year as the club's bullpen coach. Ryan was a major league player with the Boston Red Sox, Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates and also had experience as a minor league coach and manager in the Phillies and Pirates systems. A resident of Plaistow, New Hampshire, Ryan's job is to get the pitchers ready in the bullpen and let Pat Corrales know when a pitcher is able to enter a ballgame. The bullpen coaches' job is an important one and the Phillies job is in the very capable hands of Mike Ryan.

Deron Johnson

Deron Johnson is making his second tour of duty in a Phillies uniform, this time as a first base coach and hitting instructor. "Big D" was a popular member of the Phillies when he played in the early seventies and was one of the league's top home run hitters. His easy going style of instruction was an instant hit in spring training and the 16 year major league veteran, who was a teammate of Pat Corrales' with the Reds, should be a welcome addition to the Phillies coaching staff.

Claude Osteen

Claude Osteen brings 17 years' major league experience to his first season as Phillies pitching coach. A top-notch teacher, Osteen stayed away from baseball in 1981 and devoted his time to a large chicken farm in Annville, PA, but decided to return to baseball with the Phillies this season. Osteen was part of the big three of Koufax, Drysdale and Osteen on the great Dodger teams of the mid-sixties and also saw major league duty with Cincinnati, Washington, Houston, St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox. He coached the Phillies Reading club in 1976, then was pitching coach for the Cardinals for four years.

Dave Bristol

Although he has been a major league manager for four different teams, coaching third base is nothing new for Dave Bristol, the Phillies new man at this key position. He coached there for Gene Mauch at Montreal (1973-75) and at San Francisco (1978-79) between managers jobs. Bristol, like pitching coach Claude Osteen, was out of baseball last year but was brought back by Paul Owens and Pat Corrales. Owens and Bristol managed against each other in the minor leagues and Bristol managed Corrales, Phillies hitting coach Deron Johnson and Pete Rose at Cincinnati.

Bobby Wine

With the departure of Billy DeMars to the Montreal Expos, Bobby Wine is the dean of the Phillies coaching staff. An experienced baseball man, Wine narrowly missed out on the managers job following Dallas Green's move to Chicago. He brings to the Phillies dugout 25 years of professional baseball experience, including 12 years as a top-notch major league shortstop with the Phillies and Montreal Expos, all under the leadership of Gene Mauch. The 43-year old father of three should prove invaluable this season, helping new manager Pat Corrales learn the National League and its different personnel. Bobby managed some of the current Phillies this past winter at Zulia of the Venezuelan League where his team won the regular season then lost to Caracas who went on to win the Caribbean World Series.

Pete Rose

The NL's all-time hits leader . . . Rookie of the Year, NL MVP, World Series MVP . . . 15 times a NL All-Star, he more than any other active player symbolizes the game of baseball.

Mike Schmidt

Simply put, the best player in the game today . . . Two consecutive MVP . . . Five major league HR titles . . . World Series MVP . . . Six-time All-Star and Gold Glove winner, he does it all.

Manny Trillo

Baseball's best second baseman . . . Consistent offensive performer with a powerful throwing arm, he was one of the heroes of the 1980 LCS with Houston and was named MVP.

Ivan DeJesus

Reunited again with best friend Manny Trillo to form one of baseball's best double play combinations . . . Good hitter, strong throwing arm with the potential to steal 30 or more bases.

Luis Aguayo

Talented little utility infielder . . . A natural second baseman who also can play short and third . . . Strong arm and good range.

Len Matuszek

*Excellent first baseman who can also play third . . .
Contact hitter with power who has shown ability as a pinch hitter.*

Gary Matthews

One of the game's most consistent offensive players . . . Just loves to hit a baseball . . . Lifetime .289 hitter who has batted over .300 three times . . . A pure gamer who always gives 110%.

Garry Maddox

Winner of seven consecutive Gold Gloves . . . Has batted over .300 twice and was the hero of game five of the 1980 LCS knocking in the winning run . . . Tremendous man in the community.

Greg Gross

Versatile performer who can play all three outfield positions and first base . . . Contact hitter . . . Lifetime .292 hitter . . . Excellent pinch hitter.

Dick Davis

Strong righthanded batter who also is a fine defensive outfielder . . . Starting second season in the NL . . . Should see extended playing time in 1982 following trade of Bake McBride.

George Vukovich

Powerful lefthanded batter who won Division series game number five last year with pinch HR . . . Good pinch batter who also expects to see more playing time in 1982.

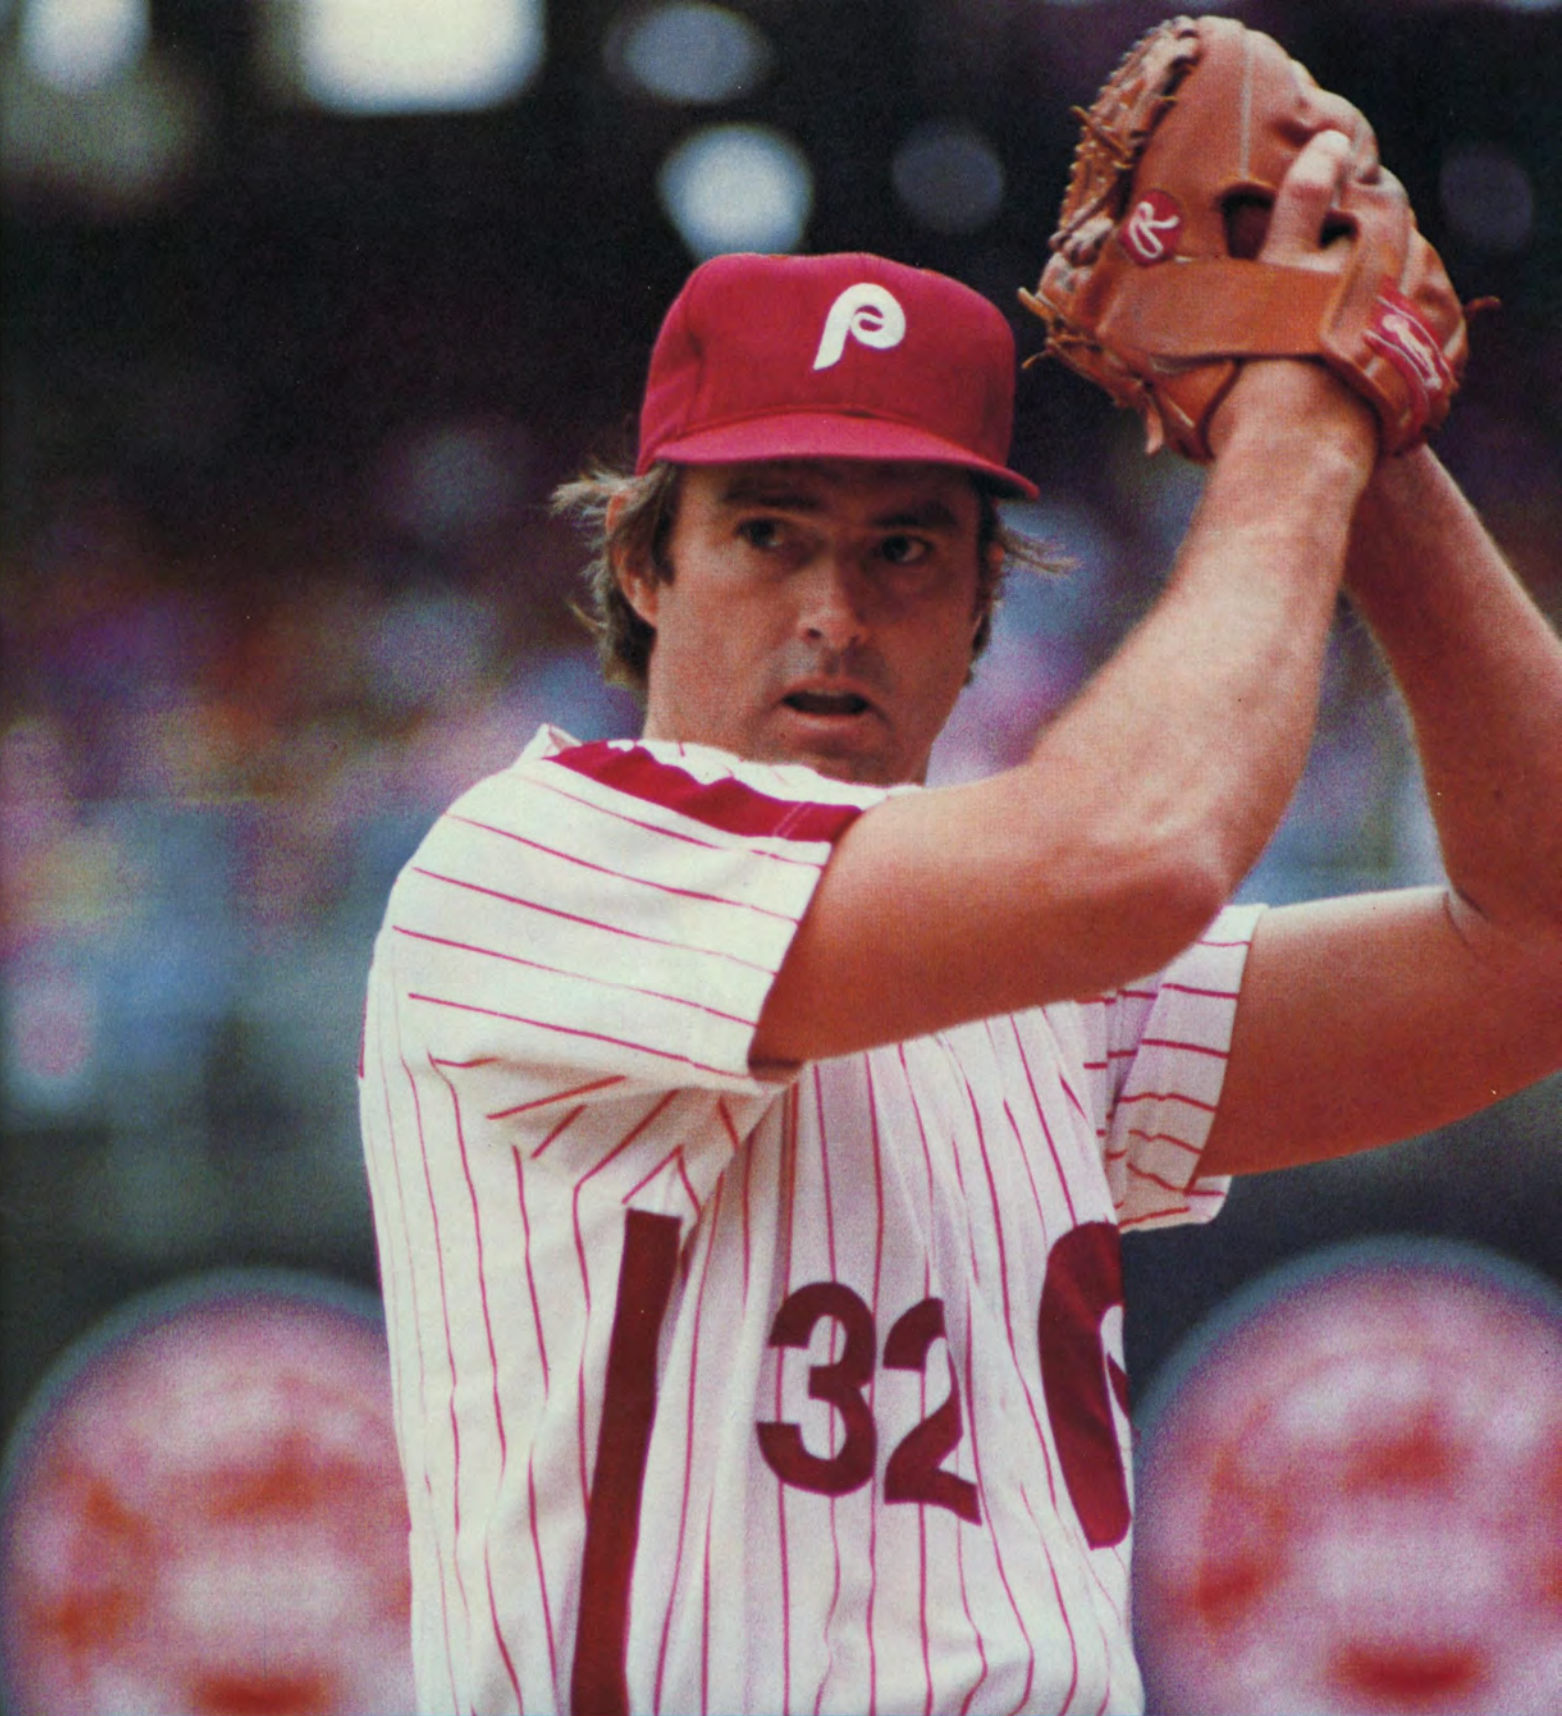

Del Unser

Versatility is his strong point playing all three outfield positions and excelling as a pinch hitter as he proved in the 1980 LCS and WS. . . A true gentlemen and real pro.

Bob Dernier

Has potential to be outstanding outfielder and base stealer . . . Has stolen over 70 bases three straight years leading the league all three years . . . Contact type hitter.

Steve Carlton

*The game's top leftlander and the all-time strikeout pitcher in the history of the NL . . .
Three-time Cy Young award winner and a 27-game winner in 1972 . . . Best pitch is wicked breaking slider.*

Dick Ruthven

Control type pitcher who has been a consistent winner since 1978 when he was re-acquired from Atlanta . . . Specializes in a number of different pitches and changes speeds very well.

Mike Krukow

*Excellent stuff with curve ball his best pitch . . .
Nine-game winner with last-place Cubs in 1980
. . . Good second or third starter behind Carlton
. . . Good competitor and an excellent hitting pitcher . . . Real class gentleman.*

Larry Christenson

Power pitcher who was a 19-game winner in 1977 . . . Strikeout pitcher with good fastball, wicked slider and excellent change-up . . . Can start or relieve but prefers starter's role.

Marty Bystrom

Great make-up for a young pitcher as he showed winning five games in September, 1980 and pitching well in LCS and WS . . . Plagued by shoulder miseries past two seasons . . . Can throw breaking pitches for strikes.

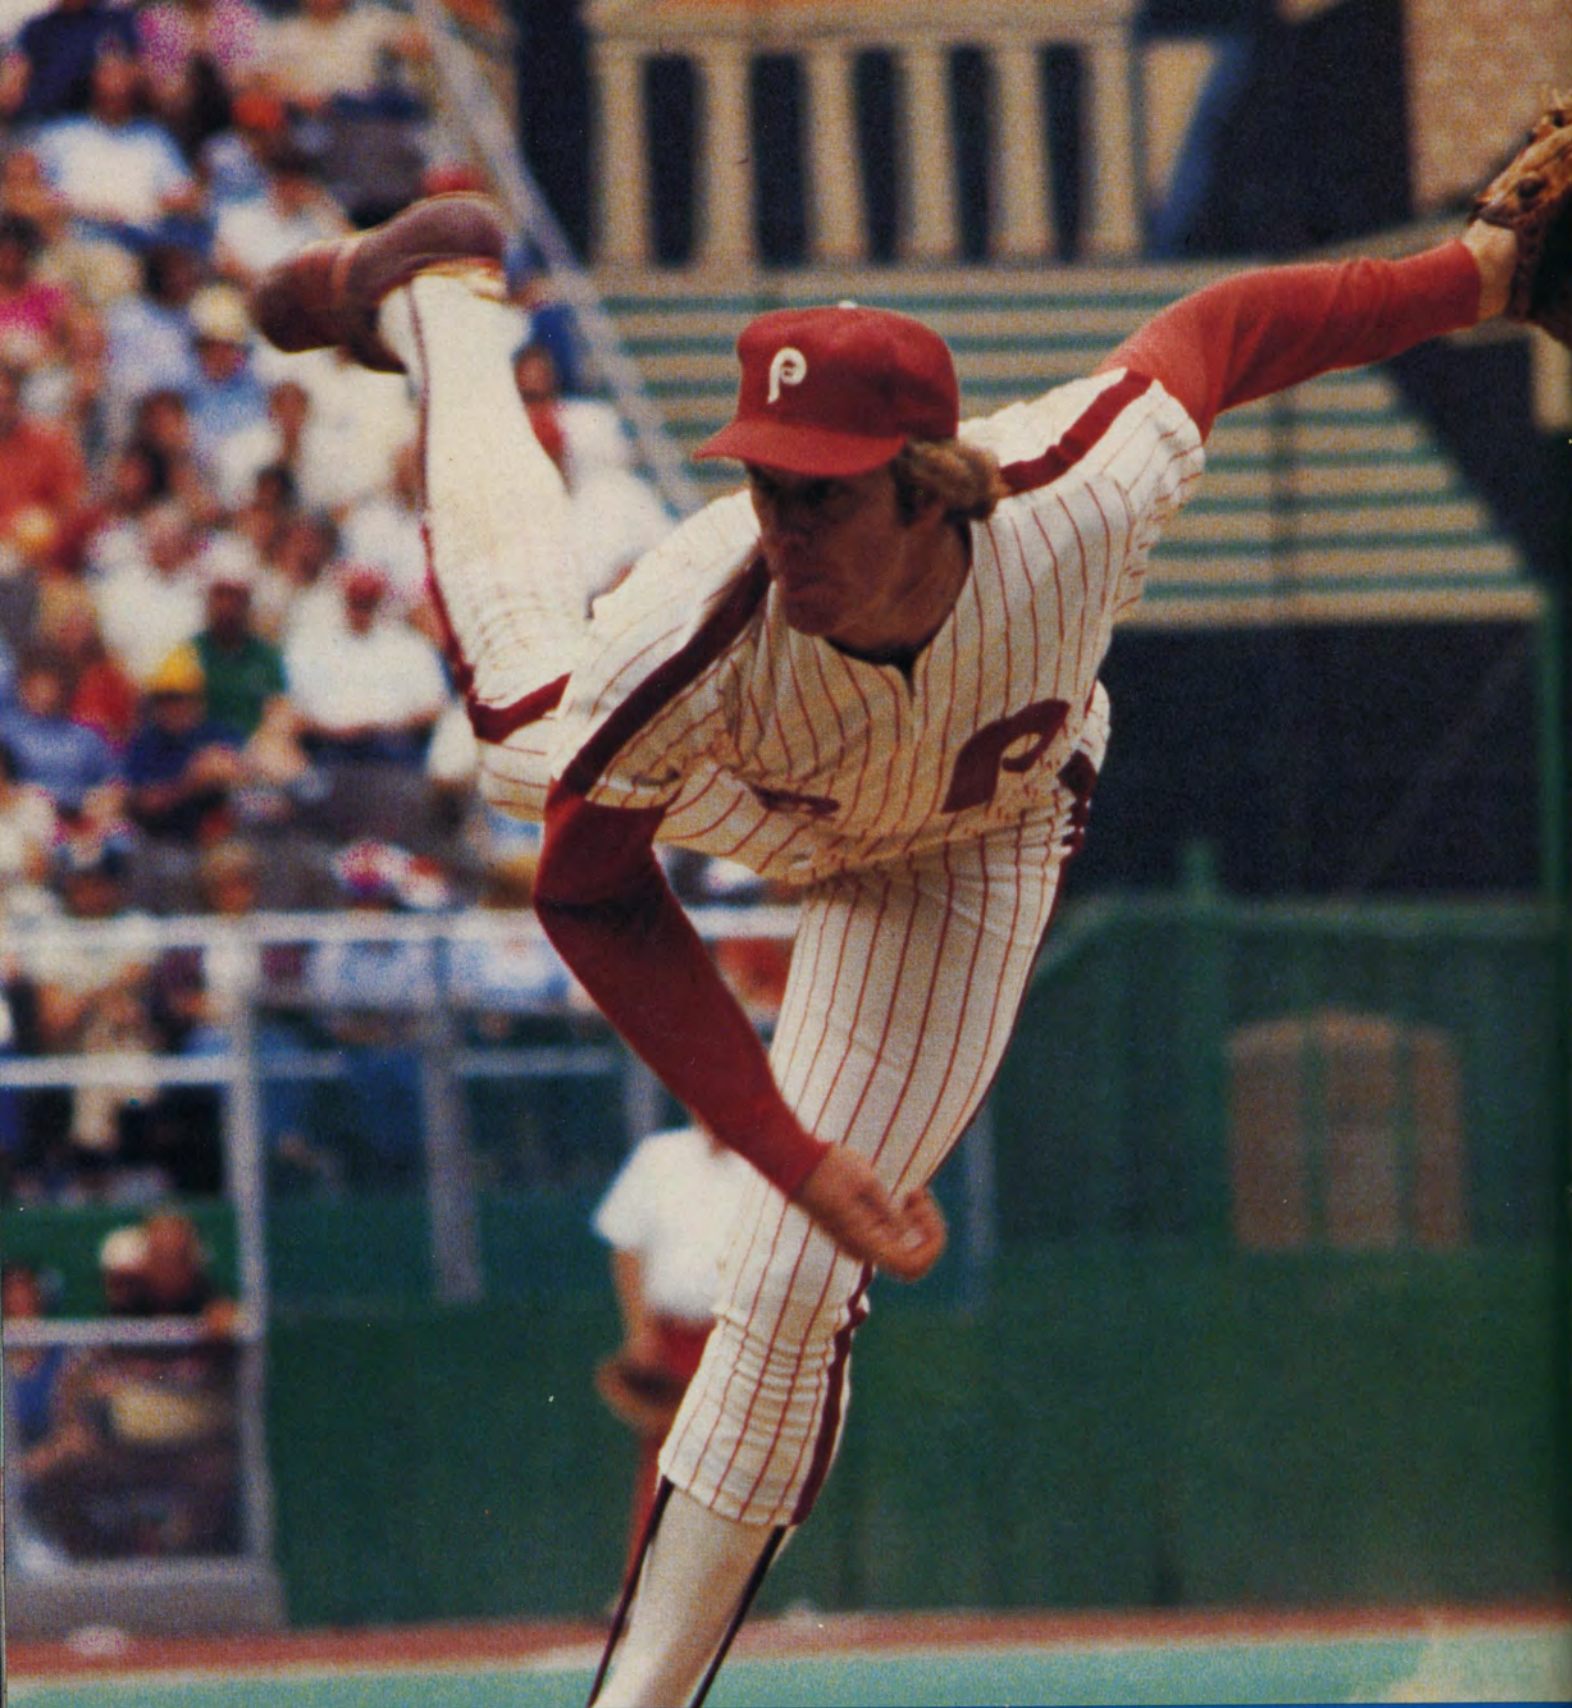

Mark Davis

Great lefthanded pitching prospect who led all minor leagues in strikeouts in 1980 at Reading . . . Hampered by shoulder problems in 1981 . . . Above average fastball and sharp breaking curve are best pitches.

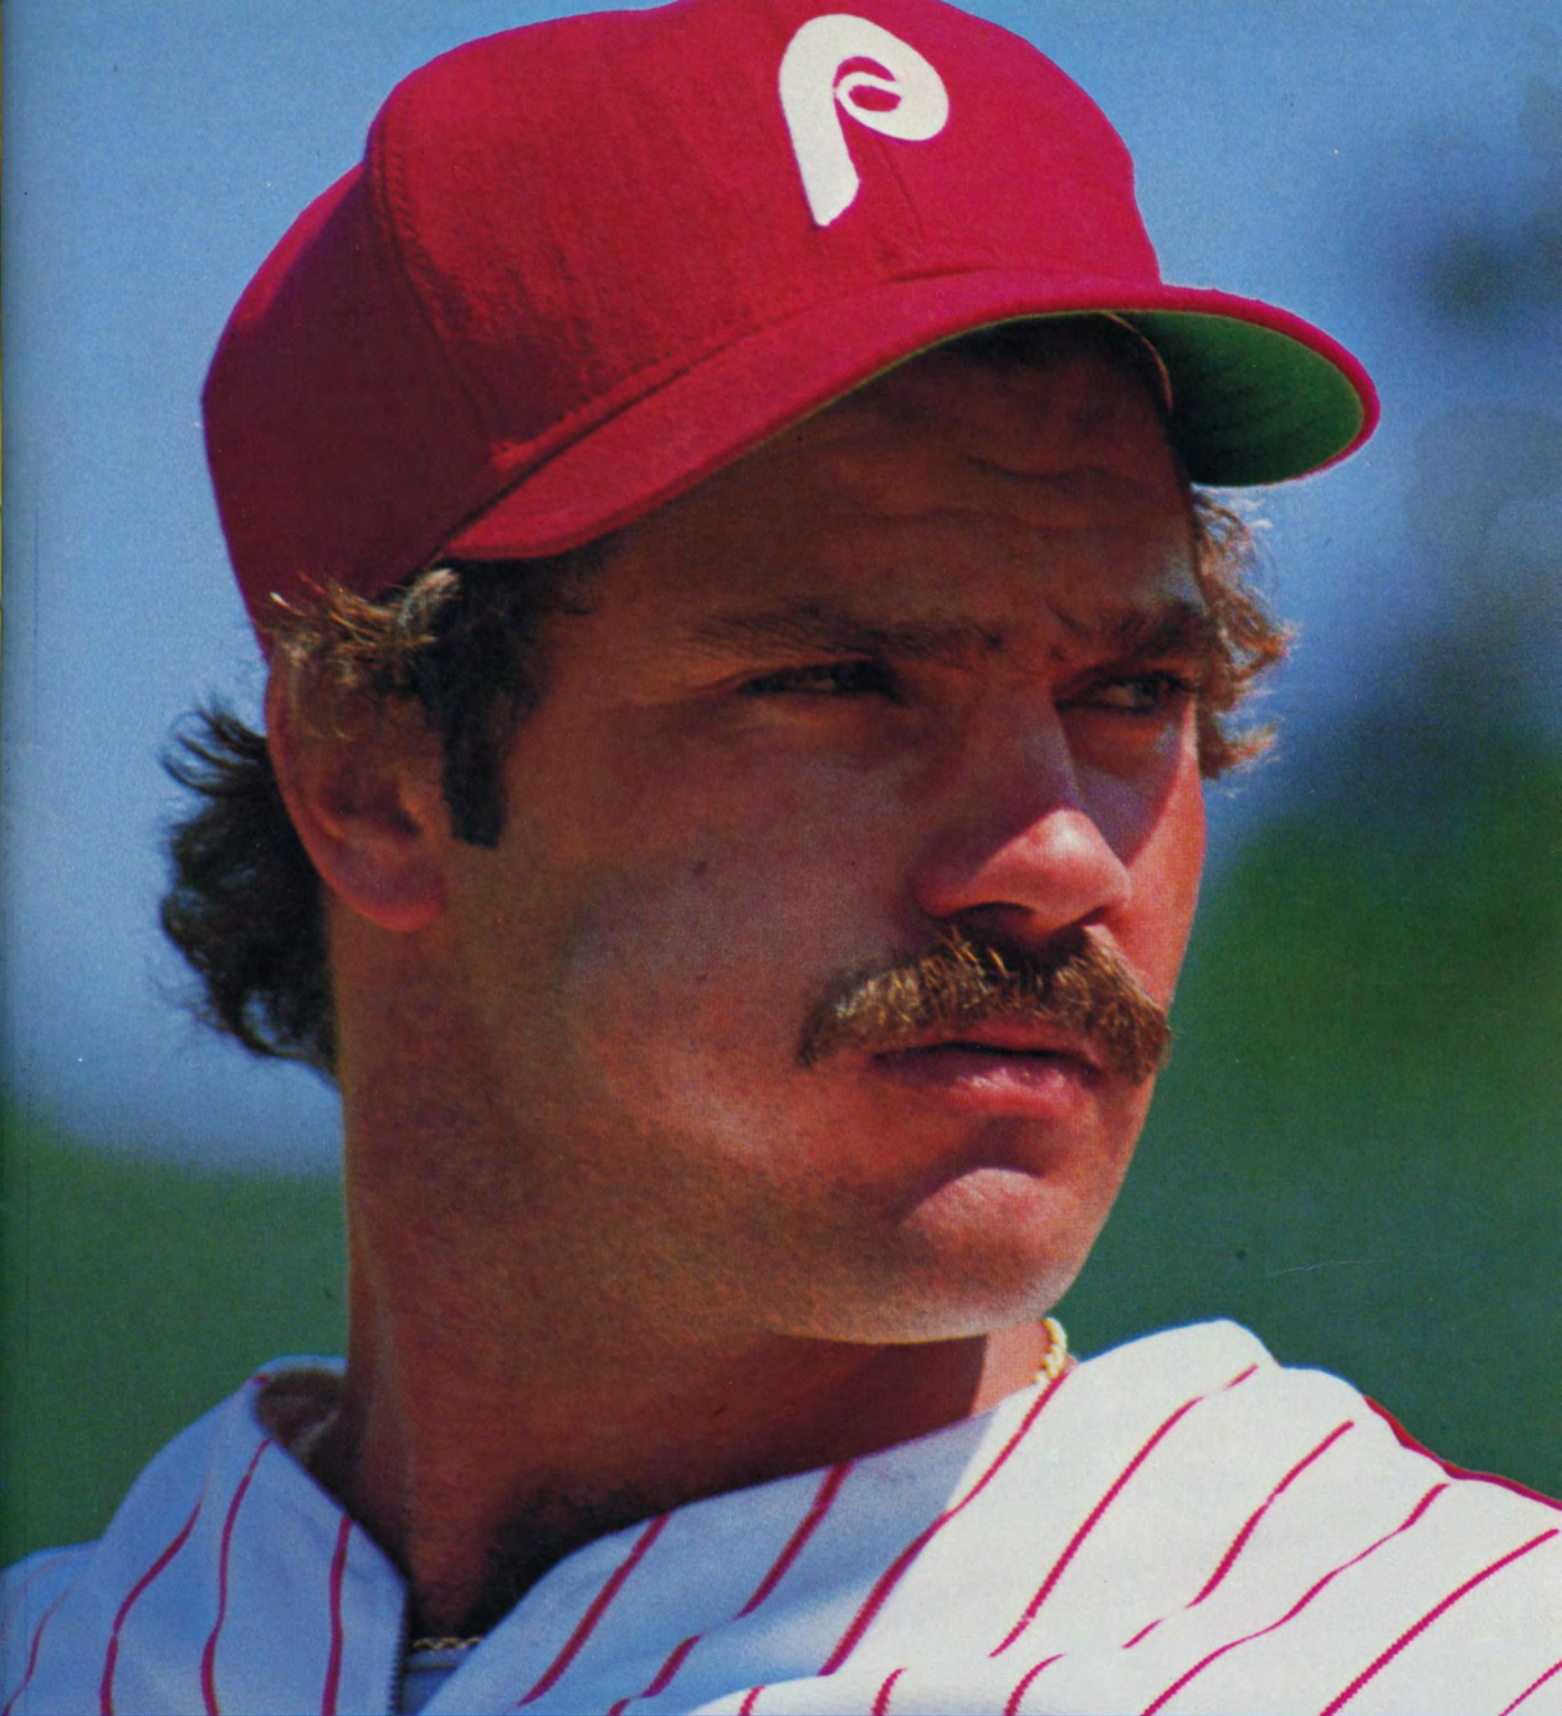

Tug McGraw

The impish hero of the 1980 WS . . . Great assortment of pitches highlighted by his famous screwball . . . One of the game's true characters and a great competitor . . . Has pitched in three World Series.

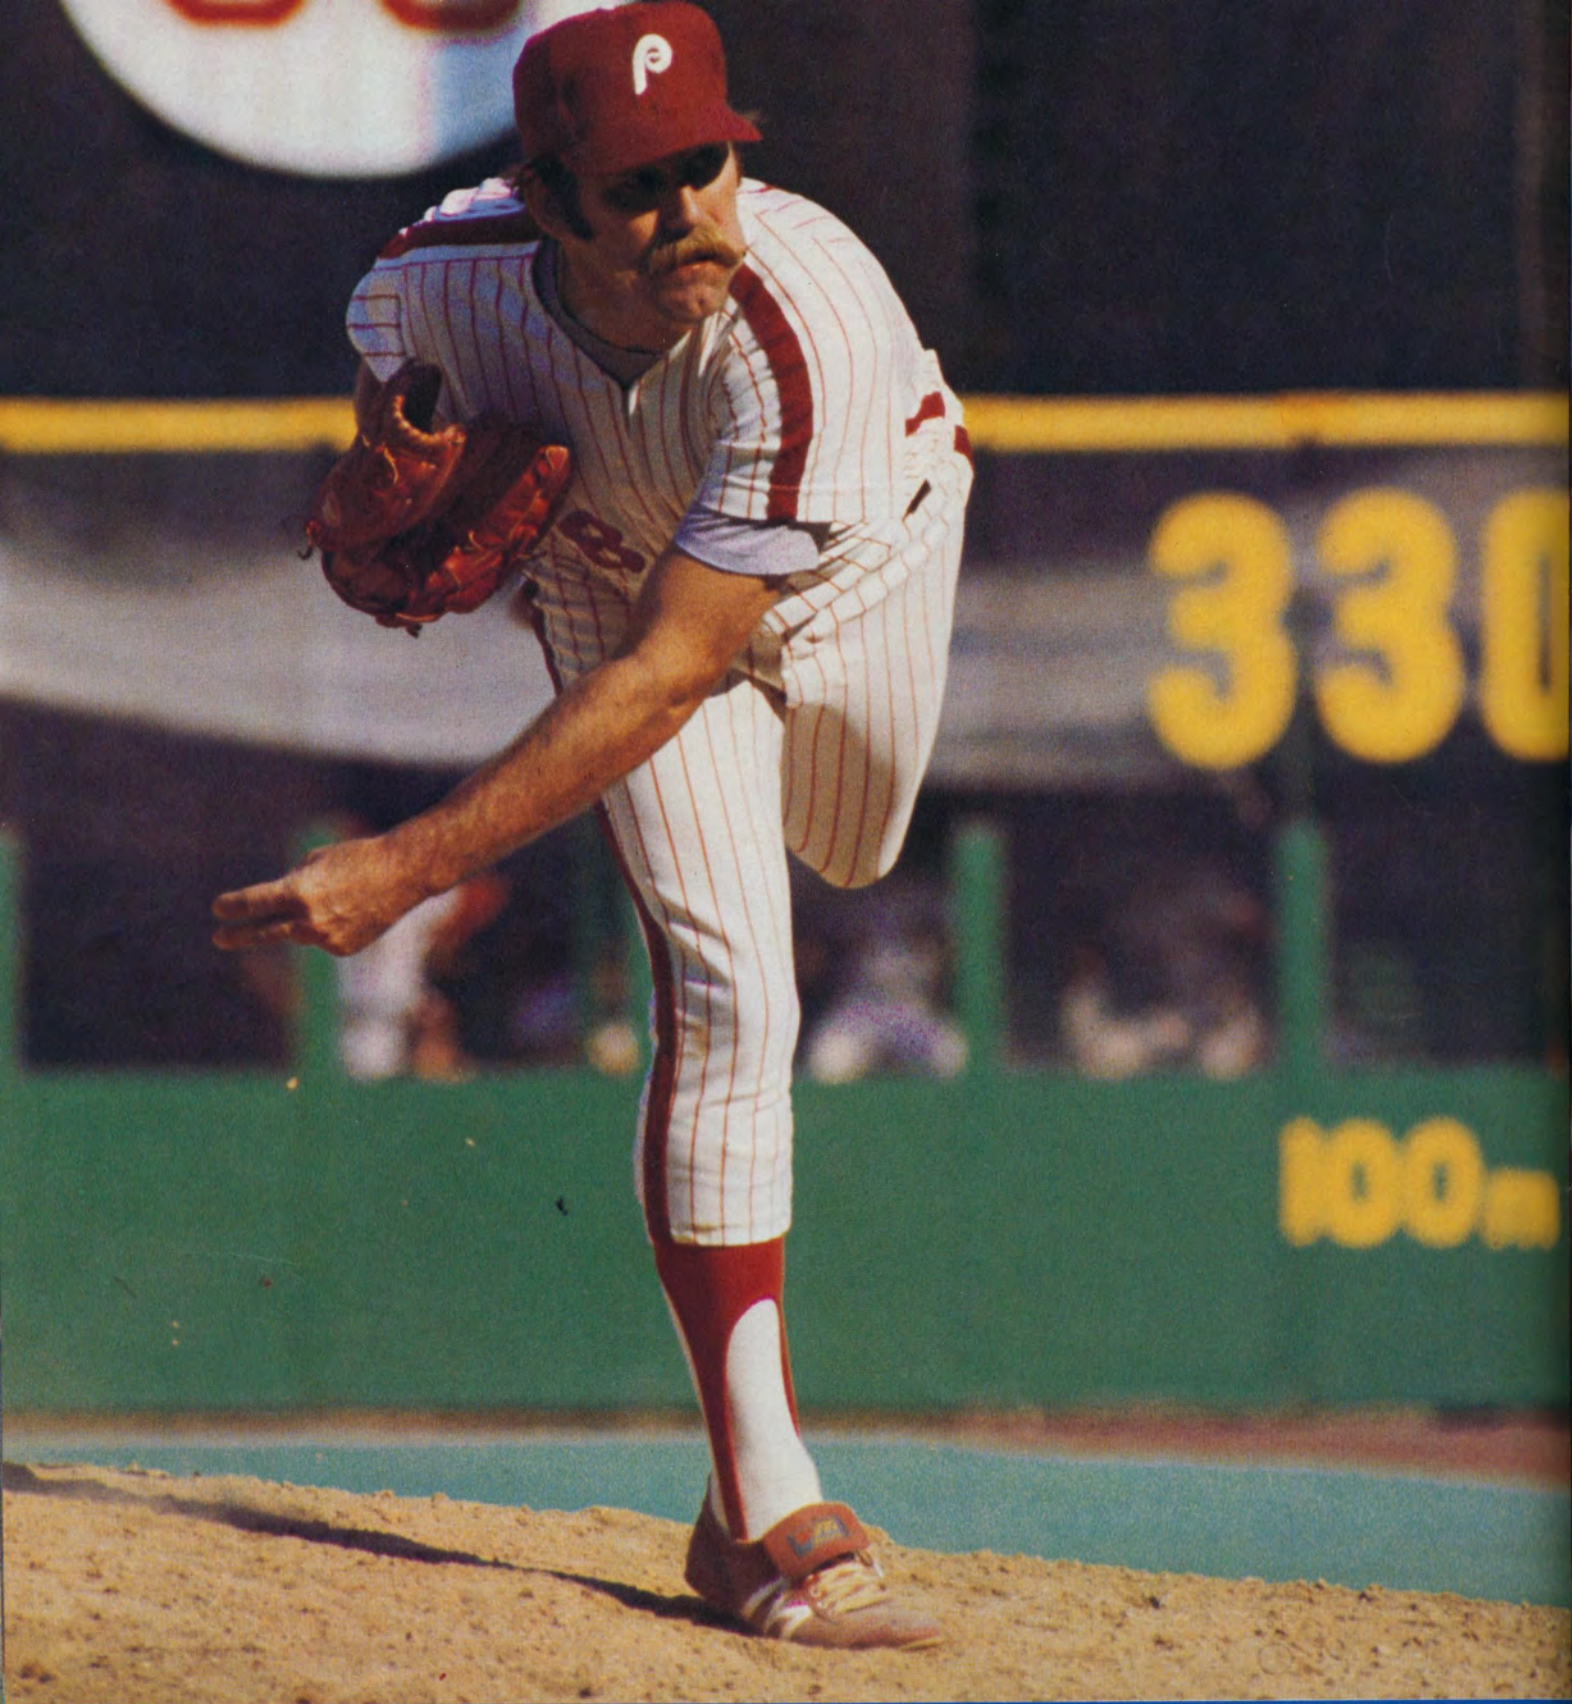

Ron Reed

Still a power pitcher at age 39 . . . Has saved 68 games since 1976 when Phils turned him into a reliever . . . Great natural athlete who was an NBA rebounding forward in the '60's.

Warren Brusstar

Hard sinker-slider pitcher fighting to come back from shoulder miseries . . . Was important factor in Phils division wins in 1977-78 when he worked the middle man role effectively.

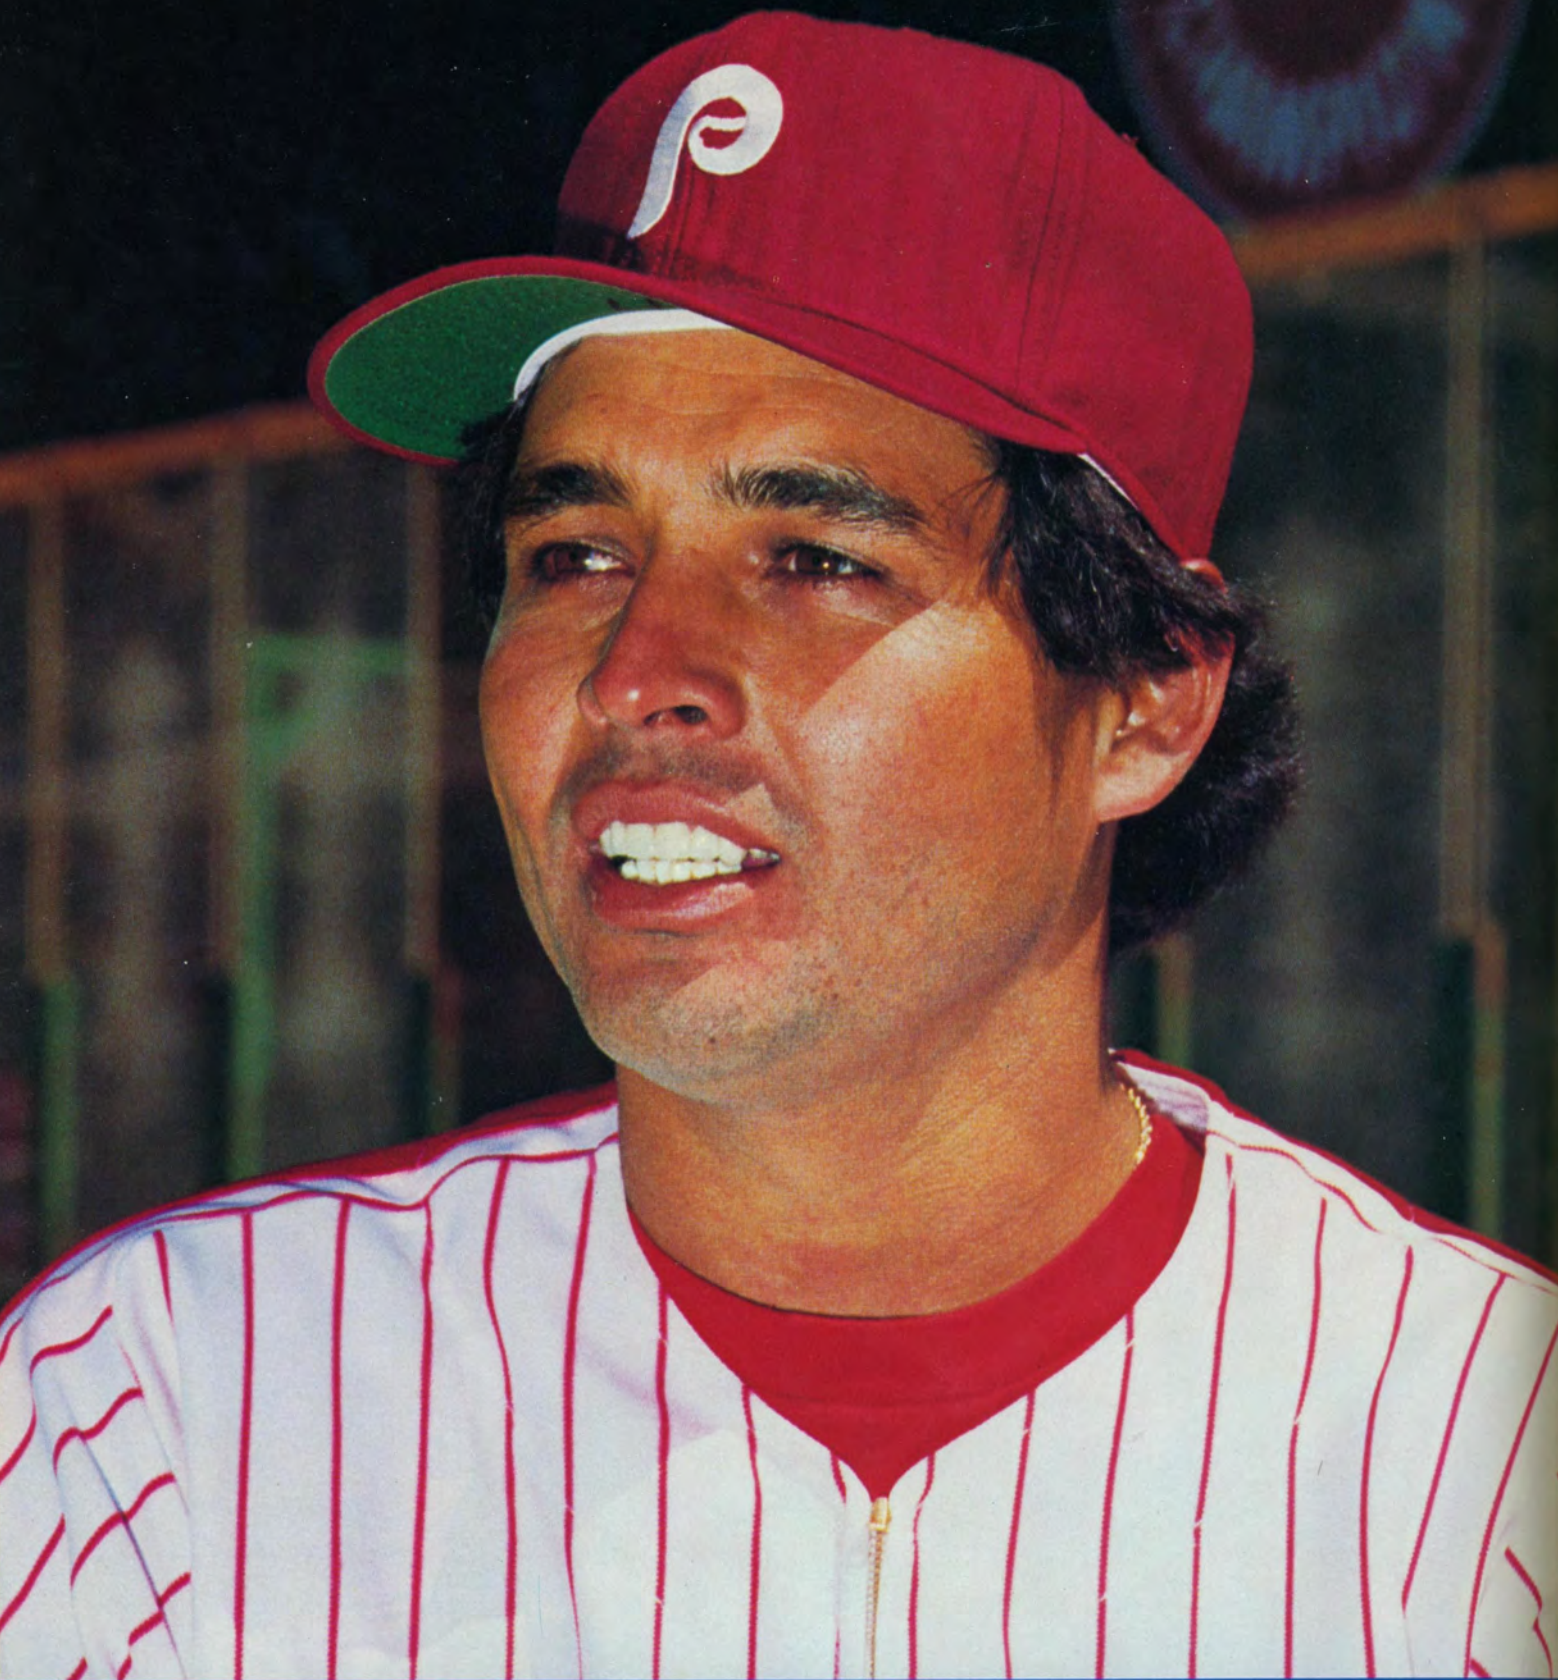

Sparky Lyle

One of the game's great veteran relief pitchers . . . Ranks second on all-time saves list behind Rollie Fingers . . . Cy Young winner in 1977 . . . World renowned author of Bronx Zoo . . . Great sense of humor.

Ed Farmer

Beat all odds to stage spectacular comeback and post 30 saves for White Sox in 1980 . . . Broke in as a hard thrower with little control . . . Now has outstanding curve ball and knows how to pitch . . . Late inning man.

Sid Monge

*One of the AL's top relievers last few seasons . . .
Good fastball, screwball and breaking pitch . . .
Was a strikeout pitcher in AL pitching for California and Cleveland.*

A Hat Trick?

Mike Schmidt is the best player in the game today!

He's earned that label in just nine years of wearing the Phillies pin-striped uniform.

What Mike's aiming for in 1982 has never been done before in major league baseball history. Yes, never.

No player has ever won three consecutive Most Valuable Player Awards.

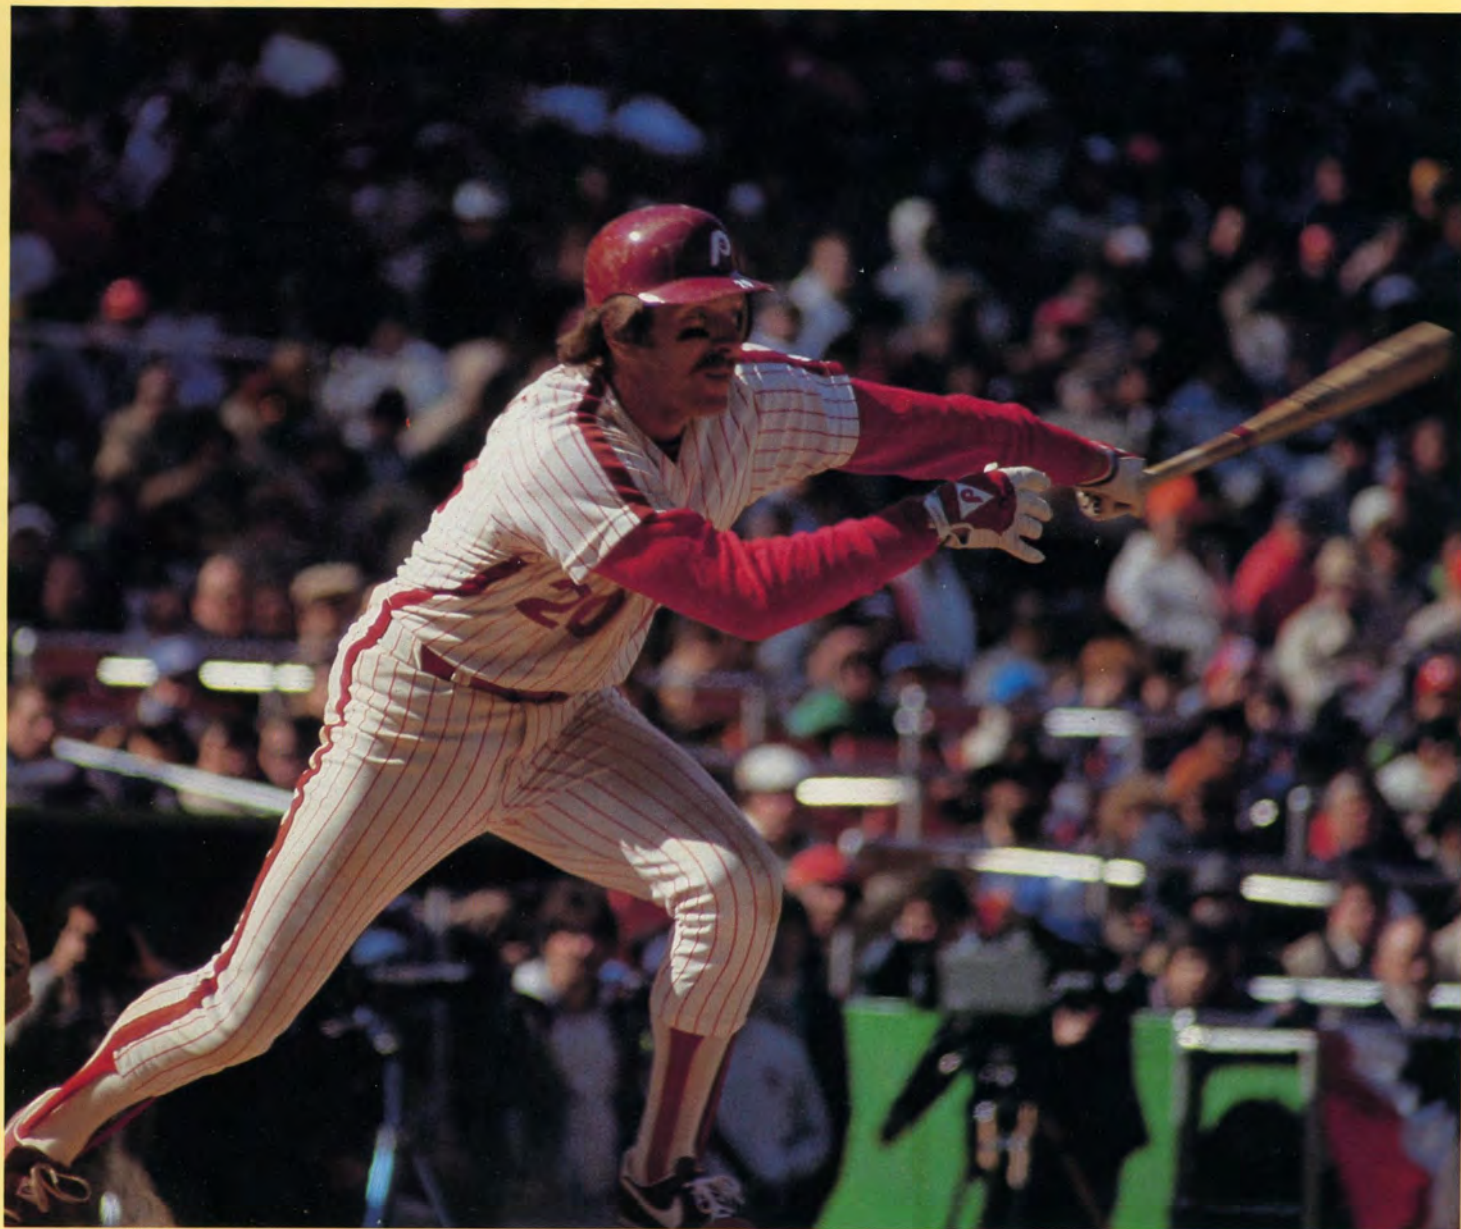

Five American Leaguers (Jimmie Foxx, Hal Newhouser, Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris) plus Ernie Banks and Joe Morgan (N.L.) have been back-to-back MVPs until Mike came along to win the distinguished honor the last two seasons.

A half-dozen Hall of Famers have won three MVP awards but not in consecutive years. That elite six include: Foxx ('32, '33, '38); Joe DiMaggio ('39, '41, '47); Yogi Berra ('51, '54, '55) and Mickey Mantle ('56, '57, '62) in the American League and only Roy Campanella ('51, '53, '55) and Stan Musial ('43, '46, '48) in the senior circuit.

That's pretty heavy company. A repeat MVP year for Mike and he'll have set the standard for the future. Any company will then have to join Michael Jack Schmidt.

A Moment To Remember

One more base hit on Aug. 10, 1981, and Pete Rose would make National League history. The first four at bats, Rose and the 60,561 fans were thwarted. Then, Rose stepped up to Veterans Stadium home plate to face St. Louis reliever Mark Littell. He grounded a single to left field between third baseman Ken Oberkfell and shortstop Garry Templeton for his 3,631st hit. Stan

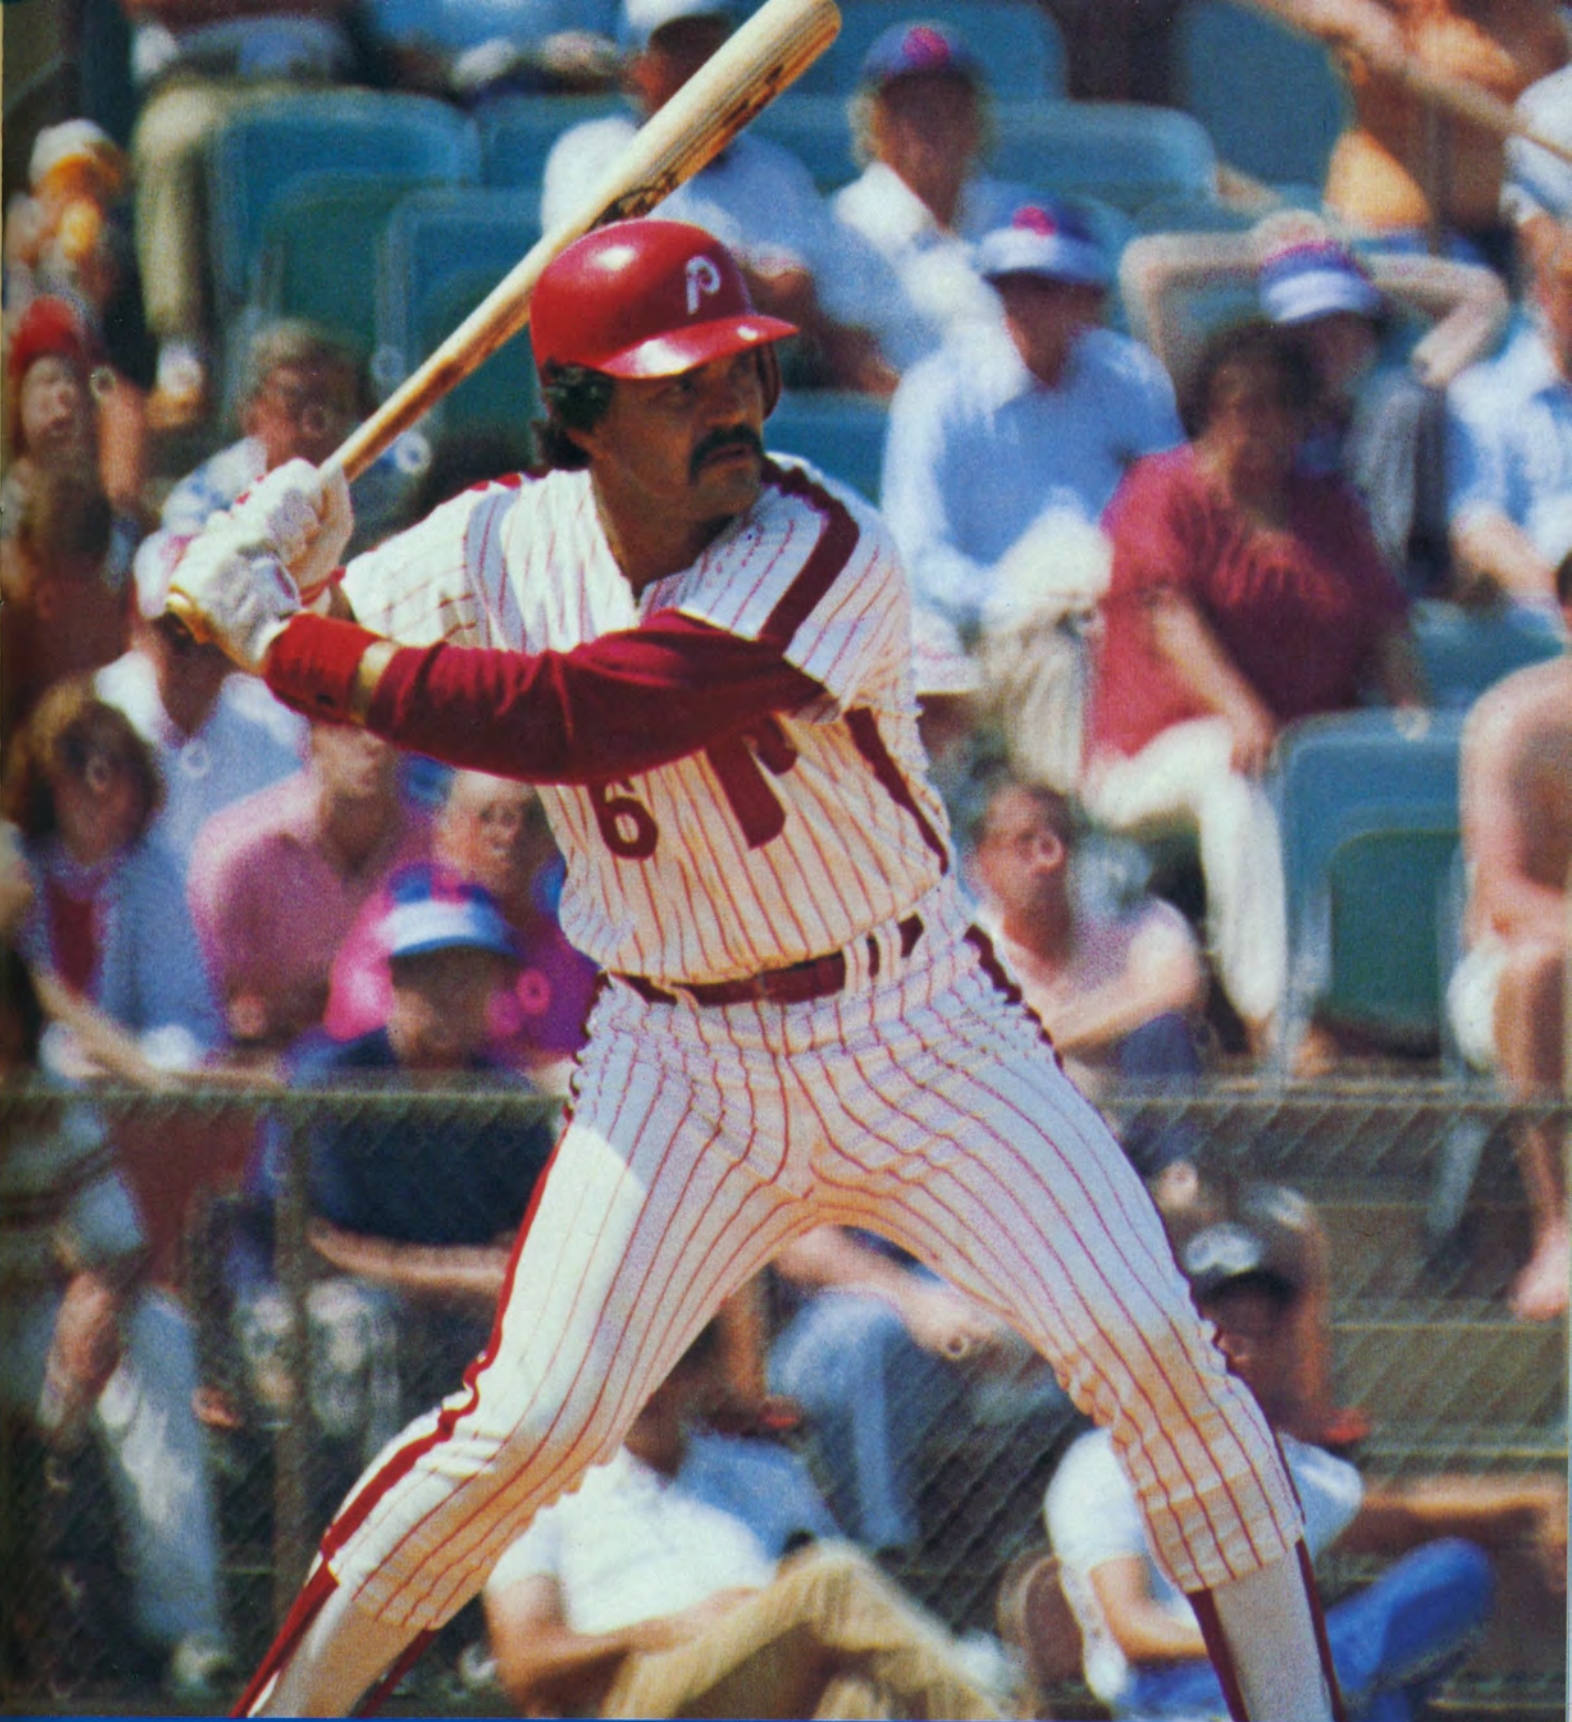

Musial's all-time National League hit record was broken by a great Phillie, a moment all baseball fans will never forget.

This season, Rose will pass Hank Aaron for second place on the all-time list. Once that's been accomplished, only Ty Cobb stands ahead of Pete. Cobb has 4,191 hits, a mark Pete will be working toward the next couple of years.

K's By The Thousand

Baseball records are made to be broken.

Some appear to be long-shots that no one will ever reach.

But Walter Johnson's all-time strike out record is skating on thin ice.

The Hall of Famer finished with 3,508 strikeouts in his brilliant career with the old Washington Senators.

Ageless Gaylord Perry, who signed with the Seattle Mariners for the 1982 season, is second to Johnson but he's not the real threat to breaking the record.

The threats are coming from righthander Nolan Ryan of the Astros and the Phillies Steve Carlton, who's already in the record books as the greatest left-handed strike out pitcher.

Ryan, at age 35, and Carlton, two years older, show no signs of slowing down. When the end comes both stand a good chance of standing on top of Johnson.

Phillies Roll Call

AS WE APPROACH THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY of Phillies baseball we thought it would be appropriate to include in this yearbook the list of players who have participated in one or more official National League games with the Phillies since 1900 . . . A TOTAL of 1,182 players. The following pages are illustrated with some of the baseball cards of yesterday's and today's youth. They depict our UNFORGOTTEN HEROES as well as the long forgotten names that wore a Phillies uniform.

Looking for that special outing for your club members, business associates, family or friends? Follow the lead of an old song and take yourself out to the ballgame. Bring your group to the ballpark and settle back for an evening of summertime fun. A Phillies ballgame is a ticket to big league excitement combined with first-class entertainment. And it's double the fun when you see the Phillies as a group. Stand up and cheer as Mike Schmidt sends another home run "outta here" and shake with laughter as the Phillie Phanatic captivates the crowd with his antics. Young and old, neighbors and co-workers will enjoy rooting the home team on. Join the summer line-up of groups who will be there for the fun of the 1982 Phillies baseball season. Terrace, loge, and reserved seats are available for groups of 25 or more for all Phillies games.

ORDERING INFORMATION

- Select the date or dates you want and estimate the number of people in your group.
- Call (215) 463-5000 or write Phillies Group Sales, PO Box 7575, Phila., PA 19101. Refer to your account number to facilitate ordering. Your account number appears on the address label of any mailing received from the Phillies.
- Upon receipt of your confirmation please return a check or money order payable to "Phillies" along with a copy of the confirmation. Payment should be sent at least 10 days prior to the game and your tickets will be mailed as soon as possible upon receipt of your payment. Payments received within 10 days of a game date may be subject to a seating location change.

PHILLIES PICNIC AREA

A picnic at the ballpark is back! Our recently refurbished picnic area reminiscent of a German beer garden is now located on the 200 level concourse in centerfield. Enjoy the convenience of picnic table dining only a short distance from your outfield 200 level box seats. Picnic before the game and then move out to specially reserved sections (267, 268, 269, 270) just above the outfield fence. Pack your own picnic delicacies or if you prefer, catering is available through Nilon Brothers at 755-9595. All the ingredients are there for a picnic perfect day at the ballgame. —Minimum 40—Maximum 180—$7.00 per person includes Picnic area plus seat.

SUPER BOX AREAS

Grand Slam, Bullpen, Garden and Double Play Rooms are available for $10.00 per person excluding bar and dining. Contact the Group Sales Office at 463-5000 for more information.

Follow The Phillies On WCAU, TV 17

WCAU radio is in the first year of a new 11-year contract to broadcast Phillies baseball.

All regular season games plus post-season games will be on WCAU, 1210 on the dial.

The station has also expanded its sports coverage before and after each Phillies game. There'll be talk shows hosted by sports director Steve Fredericks (pre-game) and Don Henderson (post-game). Bill Campbell, long-time play-by-play broadcaster of Philadelphia sports teams, will also provide a pre-game show each day.

TV games will again be aired on WPHL TV, Channel 17.

Phillies Today, the pre- and post-game show on Channel 17, will be hosted by Bob Bradley.

And, 30 Phillies home games will be on Prism TV.

The same broadcasting team will handle the radio and television: Harry Kalas, Richie Ashburn, Andy Musser, Tim McCarver and Chris Wheeler.
